Corporate Portals allow you to capture and share knowledge—an increasingly important function as your company's value moves to intellectual rather than physical capital.

Portals offer a centrally controlled point of access for the variety of information you publish to your users and customers, but allow each user to customize that information in a way best suited to their needs. This flexibility is behind the popularity of well known sites such as iGoogle, Infoseek, Lycos, and Yahoo.

Cozy Networks delivers Corporate Portal solutions using JetSpeed, Pentaho, and JSR-168/JSR 286 compliant portlet development. By using open source, standard technologies we minimize the investment needed to deliver your solution while protecting your investment from market changes and proprietary vendor lock-in
